

Pet Oral Films for Private Label Brands

Species-led formulation. Thoughtful packaging. A clear route from brief to specification.

A dedicated pet programme

Explore configurable oral dissolving film concepts for dogs and cats, supported by formula feasibility, prototype sampling, packaging coordination and project-specific documentation. This edition adds a pet-focused introduction to the original corporate brochure.

Typical film: 2 x 2 cm | Maximum: 2 x 3.5 cm
Cartons: 20 or 30 strips | Business: OEM / ODM

Pet scope and company context

What has been added

The opening six pages describe the pet oral film programme, current platform dimensions, seven development families and procurement questions. The supplied original corporate brochure follows unchanged as background on the broader oral-film business.

Important distinctions

The original brochure includes human-product concepts and general absorption, onset and format-comparison statements. These are not pet-product evidence and must not be transferred to dog or cat products.

No generic bioavailability percentage, fixed onset time, therapeutic outcome or universal safety claim is made for the pet concepts in this edition.

Original capacity and delivery figures describe general company information. Pet-project MOQ, reserved capacity, samples and production timing are confirmed in a written quotation.

The supplied qualification display names Rainbow Candies Bio (Guangzhou) Co., Ltd. Verify entity, site, scope and current validity; do not attribute every credential to the separate Hong Kong or Shaoxing entity.

FDA registration is not product approval. All formulas, species, use directions and claims require destination-market review. AI-generated product and process images are illustrative concepts.

Seven series

Thirty five starting briefs

Calming and routine support

Dog, cat, travel, senior and melatonin-free routine concepts.

Dental and fresh breath

Species-specific oral-care, hygiene and enzyme feasibility briefs.

Skin and coat

Dog and cat coat nutrition, seasonal and simplified formula directions.

Joint and mobility

Dog, cat, senior and large-breed feasibility with ingredient-load review.

Immune and daily nutrition

Supplemental nutrient, dog and cat multivitamin and growth-stage research briefs.

Digestive wellness

Digestive, probiotic and hairball-related feasibility questions.

Specialized wellness

Eye nutrition, urinary and liver nutrition, weight routine and senior concepts.

Catalogue items are configurable development concepts, not fixed formulations, veterinary medicines or guarantees of commercial availability.

Engineer the film and the pack together

Confirmed platform inputs

Typical film footprint: 2 x 2 cm.

Maximum film footprint: 2 x 3.5 cm, subject to formulation feasibility.

Carton options: 20 or 30 strips; pack count is not a feeding schedule.

Project options: flavor direction, film appearance, primary sachet, inner pouch, carton, insert and custom print.

Moisture barrier, seals, handling, stability and readable batch coding are reviewed together. Shelf life and storage instructions follow product- and package-specific evidence.

A documented path from brief to delivery

01 Define and assess

Confirm species, market, intended benefit, ingredients, exclusions, expected order and launch window. Review whether the film format can carry the proposed serving.

02 Develop and approve

Prepare prototypes; review sensory and film properties. Agree the specification, analytical plan, use boundaries and required documentation.

03 Package and produce

Approve material structure, label wording, dielines and print proof. Manufacture and release against the confirmed project file.

04 Document and hand over

Coordinate agreed batch COA, specifications and export records. The brand and importer retain the applicable market-placement responsibilities.

Supplier qualification

Request the original, current certificates for the contracted site. Check their legal entity and scope separately from finished-product test results. A collage of logos is not a substitute for project-specific due diligence.
